"The delegates arrived at a complete understanding of the points which are being treated in the session today. It is expected that tomorrow the conference will be ended with a satisfactory result."

CARRANZA AGENT

PROTESTS TO VILLA
El Paso, Texas, July 5.—Roberto Posquerra, Carranza's confidential agent, tonight sent a long protest to General Villa regarding what Posquerra termed the "criminal acts" of Villa's agents in making away with Carranza's fiat paper currency on this side of the Rio Grande.

It was learned to-day that Carranza had outlawed all fiat paper of the national issue not put into circulation by his officials. This will affect several millions of dollars of fiat paper which has been confiscated and stamped.

Hearings will be held here on the temporary injunction obtained by the Carranza people, which held a shipment of fiat paper from Carranza's agents on this side of the line. Carranza's agents have announced that to-morrow a general injunction will be sought through courts at Washington restraining all express companies from handling the Mexican paper.

Posquerra sent a long message to Villa charging that Santiago Winfield, Villa's commander at Juarez, who had been in contact with Carranza's agents, had stolen the fiat paper from Carranza's agents in making away with Carranza's fiat paper currency on this side of the Rio Grande.

TROOPS WILL PROCEED

AT ONCE TO QUERETARO

El Paso, Texas, July 5.—Information brought by messengers from Saltillo to-day, that the troops from the Division of the East have been ordered by General Pablo Gonzales to proceed immediately to Queretaro. This move is regarded as significant in the report that the Division of the East intends to play in the final assault on Mexico City, as the final stand of the Carranzas probably will be made at Queretaro.

The movement to Queretaro, it is thought here, also was precipitated by the withdrawal of Federal troops under General Pascual Orozco from the Queretaro garrison to reinforce the Mexican City garrison.

World has been received here that Constitutional troops, under General Jesus Carranza, three miles from San Luis Potosi, have taken Carranza in the State of San Luis Potosi. The railroad has been repaired to Cerro, troops that go to Queretaro will be drawn from the command of General Jesus Carranza, who has 18,000 men.

Colonel Penabaz, who is operating under the command of General Jesus Carranza, arrived at Saltillo yesterday to discuss with the first chief conditions in the field near San Luis Potosi. He said that Carranza is friendly to the Constitutionalists, and that if sufficient arms could be provided, General Jesus Carranza could have a force of 35,000 men in a few days. Colonel Penabaz also stated that Samuel Santos, with 900 men; Colonel Jose Hernandez Mirza, with 600, and Colonel Larama, with 1,000, had joined General Carranza recently, and that there were 10,000 men in the army anxious to join if arms could be provided.

SECRETARY TO CARRANZA

An error made by American newspapers in referring to General Carranza, now in Washington, as private secretary of General Carranza, was pointed out by arrivals from Saltillo. Breceda, it was explained, was secretary to General Carranza when Carranza was Governor of Coahuila, and is still attached to Carranza's staff, but the position of private secretary to the first chief is held now by Gustavo Espinosa Morales. Breceda is now in the office of Carranza, and is acting as Carranza's representative in the United States. Carranza, which are being arbitrated by a commission at El Paso, practical effect of the outgrowth to a misunderstanding, according to a messenger from Saltillo, is that Carranza is expected to leave in part over the efforts of Carranza to capture Zacatecas.

It is said General Carranza either was misinformed regarding the number of Federals in the town, concealed the facts, giving General Carranza the impression that the garrison numbered not more than 5,000 men.

After Carranza had lost more than 2,500 men in his assaults he asked for reinforcements, and it is said General Carranza then sent an order to General Villa, based on the information regarding the Federal strength given him by Carranza.

Villa, having advised that this information was incorrect and that there were 10,000 men in the garrison, took exception to the order. It is believed that when the various facts are discussed frankly, the conference will reach a conclusion satisfactory to both sides.

TO BE USED IN ATTACK

The fleet of six military aeroplanes gathered by the Constitutionalists at Saltillo will be moved to San Luis Potosi, according to word reaching here, to be used in the attack on that city. They will be under active direction of an American aviator.

George C. Carothers, representative of the State Department, is reported to have come from Saltillo to Torreon yesterday, to deliver the message to Carranza, which are being arbitrated by a commission at El Paso, practical effect of the outgrowth to a misunderstanding, according to a messenger from Saltillo, is that Carranza is expected to leave in part over the efforts of Carranza to capture Zacatecas.

CONSIGNMENT OF MONEY

SEIZED BY U. S. MARSHALS

El Paso, July 5.—Santiago S. Winfield, acting as a messenger for Carranza, was arrested by the U. S. Marshals at El Paso late on Friday night with a consignment of Constitutional fiat paper, which was being shipped from Carranza, and acting for the Carranza Junta, upon learning of Winfield's arrival, under instructions from Carranza, caused the shipment of currency to be seized while it was still in possession of the Wells-Fargo Express Company, and caused an injunction to be issued restraining Winfield from attempting to deliver the money to Carranza, and the money was being held by the U. S. Marshals.

The money seized, said to amount to $100,000, is still in possession of the U. S. Marshals.

General H. Lessing, attorney in El Paso for General Villa, makes the assertion that the Carranzaists did not send all the money brought by Winfield, and that $100,000 of the money was being held by the U. S. Marshals.

General Villa's representatives in Juarez refuse to admit that any money was smuggled. Winfield has left El Paso.

The money seized on Friday night is still held under injunction proceedings which will be heard on Monday in Washington before Justice Anderson, of the District Supreme Court.

SPIE RAP EXPECTED TO CATCH MANY DOOGERS

Crafty Evaders of Income Tax Will Be Felled by Their Less Fortunate Enemies.

COLLECTORS ARE GETTING TIPS

Many Anonymous Letters Are Already Pouring in Telling of Men Who Are Trying to Escape Their Just Payments.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—The greatest portion of the income tax of the United States has been collected and stored away in Subtreasuries over the country, and the internal revenue service of the Treasury Department is now preparing to send as many as possible of the corporations and individuals who "doctored" income tax returns in their own favor.

The American people as a general thing are honest, and there are a great many individuals, the internal revenue service believes, who yielded to the temptation to shade their tax returns. The temptation to persons without fixed income was particularly strong, it is felt, and these are the folks who are wanted by the internal revenue agents first and by grand juries afterward.

The collection of this income tax was the first collection of that source of income ever made in this country, and that first collection was marked by the birth of a new secret service. The members of this secret service work without pay, and generally keep their real names under wraps, making their entirely voluntary reports by letter, and through these anonymous communications agents of the Treasury Department believe they now have a vast amount of information bearing on the "doctored" income tax returns in all parts of the country.

"Spite Service" Helpful.
The "spite service" is the name they call this new detective system at the headquarters of the internal revenue service. While the collection of the income tax was getting on, the country last Tuesday letters were pouring into the Treasury Department giving "tips" on certain cases where low returns were being made.

Spite and a desire to "get even" is at the bottom of these letters, but the Treasury Department deals with cold facts, and it hasn't stopped to question the motive behind the tips. The information thus received was solicited, but it is not being refused.

Many of these bits of information turned into the Treasury Department in the hope that the information would result in the arrest of the person mentioned, and in some business deal.

For instance, Mr. Brown, who is a prosperous merchant and is known to a dollar, honestly or otherwise, on a real estate deal, sells a piece of real estate to Mr. Black. The deal is a good one, but it is something it is not, and Mr. Black buys. Eventually, Mr. Black discovers he has been "stung."

Then comes the income tax, and by the time the tax is paid, Mr. Black is the kind of a man who would like to save as many pennies as possible. The result is that Mr. Black's return is very strong, and he yields.

In the meantime Mr. Black has been making a note of the "spite" letters to the Treasury Department. The cold-blooded guardians of Uncle Sam's treasury are not to be taken in by a suspicious case, and the hunt is on.

Mr. Brown's income tax return is subjected to a very close and ordinary circumstances. The internal revenue folks have a letter from Mr. Black, and they are looking for the return of Mr. Brown. The return of Mr. Brown is very strong, and he yields.

Mr. Brown's return is shown to be faulty, and he cannot explain the difference of the assessment based on that real estate deal.

Quickies and Gamblers Hard to Catch.
There is a certain class of persons the internal revenue folks will watch. Among these are "quickies" and gamblers, who are known to the Treasury Department. They are known to the Treasury Department, and they are known to the Treasury Department.

GOLD IS DISCOVERED IN HOUSE PLASTER
Wall Covering Made From Mine Tailings Yields Precious Metal at Smelter.

Helena, Mont., July 5.—Shipping plaster from a house to a smelter for the gold, silver and lead in it is a new departure in the way of making money, but that is what is being done by Frank Fish.

For about fifteen years Fish has been working the tailings at the old Gregory mine, near Wilkes. The property is owned by the Helena and Livingston Company. Recently a big chunk of plaster fell from the ceiling of one of the houses. Fish was very heavy, and he had it essayed.

The returns were satisfactory, and then he obtained from the United States a lease, with the right to smelt all of the plaster in all of the houses in the town. As the town has long since been abandoned and the houses were going to decay, the lease did not bring any one.

Fish has already shipped eight tons of the plaster to the East. Helena smelter and the returns are satisfactory to him. The richness of the plaster is not surprising. When Gregory was on the money, of which the ship in question is a part, had been authorized by General Carranza and his cabinet for the purpose of redeeming the scrip issued in the State of Chihuahua by General Villa during the early days of the present revolution, in order to make all the money in circulation in Constitutional territory of one kind.

Testing points to the seizure of the money in order of Carranza's treasury as another effort either by Carranza or some of his followers unnecessarily to hamper and annoy Villa in his prosecution of the military movement of the revolution.

General Villa's representatives in Juarez refuse to admit that any money was smuggled. Winfield has left El Paso.

The money seized on Friday night is still held under injunction proceedings which will be heard on Monday in Washington before Justice Anderson, of the District Supreme Court.

NEGRO GUN FLOURISHER IS BADLY BEATEN UP

Passengers Threaten Man Who Took Seat Beside White Woman on Alexandria Train.

Washington, July 5.—A peril of lynching, William A. Parker, a colored man, who took a seat beside a white woman in an electric car coming to Washington from Alexandria last night, escaped with a severe beating and was bound hand and foot with a rope by angry white passengers after it is alleged, he had flourished a revolver at the conductor.

The revolver was displayed, according to passengers, following a wordy dispute as to Parker's legal right to the seat he occupied. The conductor took the revolver from the colored man, broke and snapped it of cartridges. The white men on the car took a hand and subdued Parker, threatening him with a rope. The rope was obtained, but the passengers contented themselves with making the obnoxious colored man fast and tight, so that he could not move hand or foot.

Tyler Denies He Had Gun.
Although Parker was arrested in connection with the fracas, Beverly Tyler, however, denies that he handed to Parker the revolver that was flourished, or that he had carried a gun, or that he knew Parker.

Parker is under lock and key in a cell of the South Washington Police Station. Tyler is locked up in the First Precinct Station, where his wife, who was with him on the train, remained overnight in the assembly room.

Parker's home is in Arlington, Va. Tyler lives at 79 O Street, Northwest. On the train leaving Alexandria at 7:15 o'clock last night, according to a story told by Conductor William Griffith, Jr., and passengers, Parker seated himself beside a white woman, ignoring the law which provides separate accommodation for the races. A lady, who is a member of the white woman addressed no objection to Parker.

Conductor Griffith, however, told Parker he must surrender his seat. He told him why, citing the law. Parker said he would go to the front of the car. Parker demanded.

There were no vacant seats forward. The conductor told Parker this, and that the young woman was entitled to remain in the seat. Tyler, who entered the car, he insisted that Parker move.

Gun Is Flourished.
Parker and Conductor Griffith were soon scuffling. Although the conductor is a small man, he displayed pluck. In the midst of the melee Parker pointed a revolver in the conductor's face, according to passengers. Griffith, who was standing near by, broke the pistol and empty the cartridges on the floor.

Passengers then joined in the fight. Parker was knocked down and beaten and kicked. One of the railway men said something about a rope and knife.

"I'd like to cut his head off," said an excited man. Others thought a severe beating would do.

Parker was stopped at Arlington Junction, where a rope was procured. Parker was securely bound.

At the Highway Bridge Parker was taken from the car, turned over to the police, and taken to the Washington Police Station. A telephone message was sent to the First Precinct Station, requesting that policemen meet the car and take off another passenger.

The police of the First Precinct understood that the man they were to arrest was bound with a rope. Captain Peck and Sergeant Lofman took over the man, and they were taken to the police station.

A well-dressed and quiet colored man, who stepped from the car, was pointed at by the man who had handed Griffith the pistol. He was identified as Beverly Tyler, driver for a Washington beef company.

The wife of Tyler was with him. She had been visiting friends in Alexandria, he said, and he had gone there to bring her home.

Tyler Proclaims Innocence.
Both Tyler and his wife, who went with him to the police station, expressed surprise when the charge was made that the husband had handed Parker the weapon.

"I didn't know the man," he said. "I did not have a pistol to give him."

Tyler's story, he asserted, was substantially as related by the other passengers. The charge that he handed Parker the weapon is the main discrepancy in the two accounts.

COUNTRESS NOSTITZ AT ST. PETERSBURG HOME
St. Petersburg, July 5.—Countess Nostitz, nee Beaton, the prettiest American who has won for herself the reputation of being the smartest hostess in St. Petersburg, is spending a few days here, having come from the Crimea, where she has a beautiful villa at Yalta, before leaving for Troville and Biarritz.

The countess is a great favorite with the imperial family, with the exception of the Dowager Empress Marie, who, it will be recalled, recently publicly rebuked the countess for wearing a low-necked dress and quantities of jewelry at a memorial service.

Revival of Croquet.
Washington, July 5.—Led by Senator Cummins, of Iowa, a revival of croquet, the old-fashioned game, has set in in the national capital.

Senator Cummins is an expert at the game, and has issued a challenge to all comers. Other players of note are Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the Speaker; Senator and Mrs. Key Pittman, the Misses Sidney and Lucy Burleson and Representative Connolly, of Iowa.

Boy or Girl? Great Question!
This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy, an external application known as "Mother's Friend."

During the period of expectancy it is applied to the mother's abdomen and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. The mother it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do these knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses usually looked forward to with such concern.

There is a question, but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women. You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. It has helped a host of mothers to a complete recovery. It is prepared by Dr. J. C. Rogers, Inc., 301 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. BELIEVE ROOSEVELT IS INTENT ON FIGHT

Resignation as Associate Editor Is Taken to Mean Greater Activity in Politics.

WILL ATTACK DEMOCRATS

Course of Former President Appeals Both to Republicans and Bull Moosers—"Bosses" Penrose and Barnes Not Worried.

Washington, July 5.—The Sunday Star of to-day has the following political gossip:

"Colonel Roosevelt, as a political live wire, continues to carry thrills to Progressives and Republicans in Congress, and shocks to the Democrats.

His resignation from the associate editorship which he cannot give them is construed by Washington politicians to have but one meaning—definite announcement that he must be reckoned with as an active factor in politics from this time on.

"The text of his letter of resignation, it is said by politicians, leaves no doubt on that score. Predictions that he would devote himself mainly to attacking the administration rather than reopening the factional troubles in his own party are fully borne out.

"It is said that this course will appeal to both Republicans and Bull Moosers, and that he cannot give them too much of it. More power to his elbow is the fervent cry of the regulars, and 'lay on, McDuff,' the echo of the Progressives.

"All parties are convinced that the Colonel is out to have a perfectly corking time," according to his own particular methods, but for once it is true that the Colonel is in a corking mood with him heart and soul in his nature.

"The fact that the Colonel is tilting against Senator Penrose isn't worrying the regulars at all, and as far as that goes, isn't worrying the Senator either. It is part of the program, as understood by politicians at the Capitol. They say the plan is for him to go after Penrose and 'Boss' Barnes red-hot. The two 'bosses' can stand it, and it pleases the Bull Moosers.

"Neither do the politicians take any stock in the disclosure of damaging correspondence, which Senator Penrose threatened to publish in case the 'bosses' can stand it, and it pleases the Bull Moosers.

"The dispatch adds that the Colonel 'corked' Penrose over the Senator's threat. Sounds natural, doesn't it?"

"The dispatch goes on to say that the 'best cure' which the Colonel is taking at Oyster Bay is rapidly restoring him. The rest consists in a long horseback gallop every morning and the rest of the day devoted to an avalanche of correspondence pouring in upon him by mail and wire. This is interlarded with visits of prominent politicians and long conferences.

"Analysis of the text of the Colonel's letter of resignation convinces the politicians here that he is more than ever impatient of the mission to liberate the country from the thrall of oppression. He says:

"But the developments of the last three or four years have rendered it imperative that I take a more or less active part in trying to secure for the nation and in the several States the triumphs of these principles embodied in the Progressive platform of 1912."

"While this emphasis upon the Progressive principles doesn't sound good to the regulars, they are comforted by the very next line in his letter, which says: 'I now feel I am in honor bound to stand in strong opposition to the administration.'"

Colonel's Method Approved.
"Go to it," the regulars breathe, fervently. Nor do some of the regulars hesitate to express their thankfulness that the Colonel is at hand to lambaste the administration. They are utterly shameless in their approval of the author of their party's undoing.

"On that score, however, nobody denies that the Colonel's recent entry into active political strife is welcome. To the tired and faded Bull Moosers, especially, withering under the over-powering Democratic majority, his presence is like the shadow of a mighty rock in a weary land.

"It is very interesting to hear the daily comments of the rank and file of the regulars over the Colonel—not the 'highbrow' leaders, but the men in the street. They are delighted to have him back, and whether they agree with him or not, none out of ten will admit it. Well, he will make things interesting for somebody, anyhow."

"MOVIES" BY AMATEURS IS POLISH INVENTION
London, July 5.—Poland has found its Edison in the person of Kasimir de Presynski, the inventor of the very newest thing in movies. The June meeting of the Royal Photographic Society the inventor displayed for the first time his new amateur cinematograph camera, which has aroused the greatest interest as well as curiosity among experts.

This is mainly due to the fact that the film was not used, as is customary, in a narrow strip, but in a broad sheet, and that very small pictures could be taken. Many happy returns after a dinner, the up-to-date guest sends his hostess a charming box of film, which he has made up of pictures, amounting to about 15 cents.

In describing his invention Mr. Presynski said that about a foot of this film was equal to 100 feet of ordinary cinematograph film. While 100 feet of ordinary film cost about $50 to $55, the cost of a sheet of the broad film he used, including the name of pictures, amounted to about 15 cents.
